

Wisconsin Farm to School 2013 Producer Directory

Welcome to the 2013 Wisconsin Farm to School Producer Directory. This Directory is a tool to help schools better connect with local farmers who are interested in selling their products to schools or providing educational opportunities to schools. This Directory lists farms that have either previously sold to, or are interested in selling to schools. The following information was collected through the 2013 Wisconsin Farm to School Producer Survey, which was disseminated through the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection, state farm to school partner organizations and multiple listservs. 158 Wisconsin producers responded to the survey, and each was offered the opportunity to be listed in this Directory. As school nutrition staff or community partners, this Directory can serve as your guide to locate local farms that may be a good fit for your farm to school program. Please see the Wisconsin Farm to School Toolkit for School Nutrition Directors for more information on Wisconsin Farm to School and how to best develop relationships with Wisconsin producers. The toolkit is available online at www.cias.wisc.edu/toolkits.

Why Farm to School?

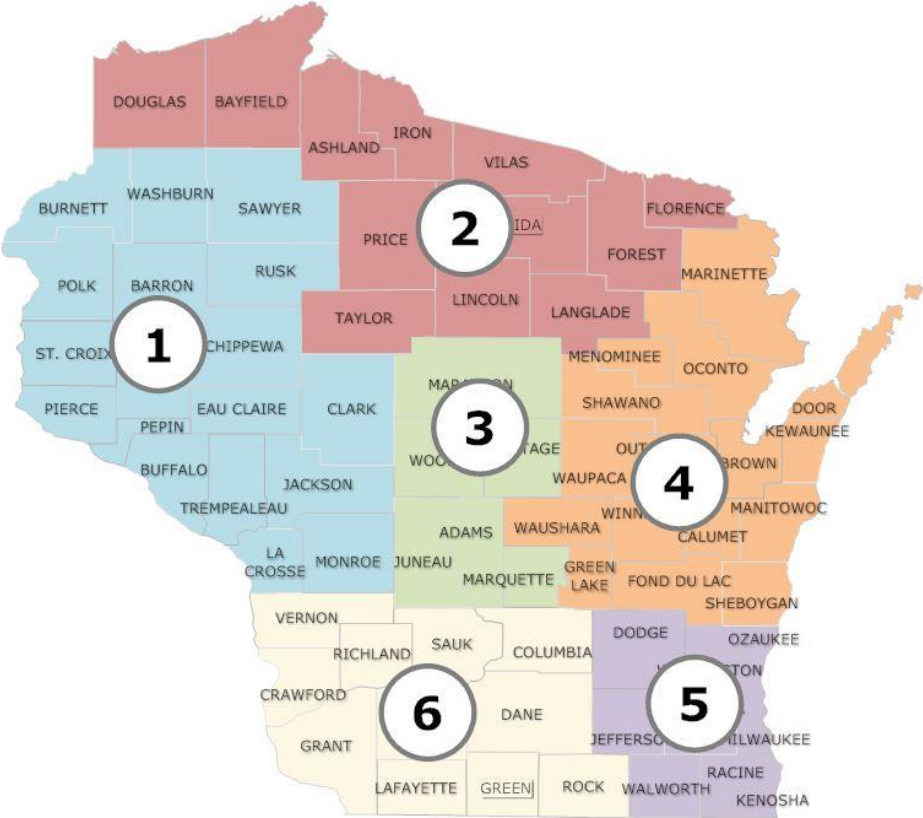

Farm to school encourages healthy lifestyles in children and helps support local economies. In Wisconsin, farm to school programs connect schools with locally and regionally grown and produced products. Farm to school offers producers the opportunity for a new market to sell product, promotional opportunities obtained by selling a product through schools, and the opportunity to serve as an educator by visiting schools or bringing students onto the farm for field trips. Did you know that in Wisconsin:

- At least 76 schools or districts identify as having a farm to school program
- At least 189 schools or districts purchased local food in the 2011-2012 school year
- 93 percent of respondents are continuing or expanding their local purchasing and/or farm to school program
- An estimated total of $600,000 of local food was purchased by respondents in the 2011-2012 school year

This directory is organized by geographic region. Farms are listed in alphabetical order by region, followed by the name and contact information for the farm, and available products. Please note that farms have indicated if they would like to be involved in selling product to schools and/or educational activities with schools.
